

Contents

Geriatrics and Gerontology International Volume 21 Issue 11, November 2021

ORIGINAL ARTICLES

EPIDEMIOLOGY, CLINICAL PRACTICE AND HEALTH

- Rejuvenation of standing and gait balance in community-dwelling older individuals: A comparative study between 2006 and 2019
M Watanabe et al. 975
- Reciprocal relationship between locomotive syndrome and social frailty in older adults
R Ono et al. 981
- Association between number of medications and mortality among older adult patients in a specialized cardiology hospital
T Arita et al. 985
- Relationships between overactive bladder and cerebral white matter hyperintensity in outpatients at a memory clinic
H Komiya et al. 996
- Effects of different definitions of low muscle mass on its association with metabolic syndrome in older adults: A Korean nationwide study
Y Jeon and KY Son 1003
- Characteristics associated with hospitalization within 30 days of geriatric intermediate care facility admission
S Mitsutake et al. 1010
- Construct validity of the Questionnaire for Older Senior Citizens based on a confirmatory factor analysis: A study during the period of self-restraint to prevent the spread of coronavirus disease 2019
T Shinohara et al. 1018
- Higher levels of lead and aluminium are associated with increased risk of falls among community-dwelling older adults: An 18-month follow-up study
TC Ooi et al. 1026
- Prevalence of and factors related to homebound and semi-homebound older adults in a rural area in Japan
SYamazaki et al. 1033
- Body mass index, functional disability and all-cause mortality in 330 000 older adults: The Shizuoka study
Y Tabara et al. 1040

SOCIAL RESEARCH, PLANNING AND PRACTICE

- Driving cessation and physical frailty in community-dwelling older adults: A longitudinal study
H Ishii et al. 1047

BIOLOGY

- Change in subjective health status among frail older Japanese people owing to the coronavirus disease pandemic and characteristics of their responses
T Kera et al. 1053

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RESEARCH STUDIES

- High prevalence of eating alone among community-dwelling adults living alone: A cross-sectional study in Japan
K Kuwahara et al. 1060
- Twenty percent of Japanese older adults received long-term care needs certification after insufficiency fracture: The first report analyzing the combined medical and nursing claims database
M Odagami et al. 1062
- Feasibility of active learning health education by video conferencing among older adults
K Uemura et al. 1064
- Neutralizing antibodies directed against SARS-CoV-2 in a population residing in a nursing home and a long-term care unit
J Moyet et al. 1066

COMMENTS

- The relationship between alcohol intake and falls: Alcohol use only benefits those who sell it!
A Brailon 1069
- Measuring positive caregiving experiences in caregivers of nursing home residents with dementia
HJA Smaling et al. 1070
- Comment on "Association between habitual coffee consumption and skeletal muscle mass in middle-aged and older Japanese people"
SG Tan and P Soysal 1071