

Contents

Geriatrics and Gerontology International Volume 24 Issue 5, May 2024

ORIGINAL ARTICLES

EPIDEMIOLOGY, CLINICAL PRACTICE AND HEALTH

Intrinsic capacity assessment using World Health Organization Integrated Care for Older People Step 1, and the association with frailty in community dwelling older adults
K Zhou et al. 457

Fried Frailty Phenotype Questionnaire scores and postoperative patient-reported outcomes of patients undergoing major abdominal cancer surgery: A secondary analysis
Y Kinugasa et al. 464

Fatigue, fear of being mobilized and residual limb pain limit independent basic mobility and physiotherapy for patients early after major dysvascular lower extremity amputation: A prospective cohort study
AL Berger et al. 470

SOCIAL RESEARCH, PLANNING AND PRACTICE

Revolutionizing elderly care: Building a healthier aging society through innovative long-term care systems and assessing the long-term care acceptance model
C Chokphukhiao et al. 477

BIOLOGY

NUCB1 is required for proper insulin signaling to control longevity in Drosophila
J-W Yoon et al. 486

Medical care priorities of community-dwelling older adults according to three dimensions of quality of life: Quality of daily living, satisfaction and happiness from birth to death, and human vitality
T Tanaka et al. 493

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR RESEARCH STUDIES

Estimation of the number of missing older persons with dementia in Japan
K Kikuchi et al. 499

Awareness and information resources concerning emergency telephone consultation services in older adults in an aging community in Japan
A Nakamura and K Kotani 501

COMMENTS

Reply to: Effect of COVID-19 on physical function decline predictors in nursing home residents
M Noguchi-Watanabe et al. 503